

Dear colleague,

I am very pleased to inform you that the Association of Universities of Asia and the Pacific (AUAP) in cooperation with the World Federation of United Nations Association (WFUNA) will organize a short but intensive “LEADERSHIP TRAINING PROGRAM AT THE UN” on November 26-30, 2018 in New York, USA at the UN headquarters. This program is intended for young university personnel who are groomed for key management positions in the future.

WFUNA can accommodate no more than 45 trainees with 25 as the minimum. If we can not assemble 25 participants, the program will be cancelled. The Program is open to participants of AUAP Members only. If your institution is not a member yet, we will allow you to register as member now so that your representative can participate in this training program. The membership fee of AUAP is $800 annually. The participants will cover their airfare, cost of visa, insurance and board and lodging. WFUNA will provide a free lunch for the duration of the training.

Please inform us if you are interested in nominating a staff member to the program so that we can ascertain the approximate number of participants. More materials on the “LTP at the UN” will be sent to interested parties later. You can of course request these materials including the fees from our Executive Secretary, Ms. Supaporn Chuangchid at auapheadquarters@aunap.org

This is a special program created by WFUNA at the request of AUAP because of the need for this type of training to be undertaken by many of our young personnel especially those being prepared for senior management positions in their respective institutions. I hope you will nominate a participant to the above program.

Regards,

Ricardo P. Pama, Ph.,D
Secretary General
